World Class Leadership On & Off the Court

In this powerful presentation, Joshua challenges and inspires student athletes to become World Class Leaders on and off the court by equipping and empowering them with key leadership qualities required to become this type of leader. Some of the leadership qualities discussed are vision, exceptional character, exceptional team leadership skills, key strategies to overcoming extreme obstacles, and key strategies to inspire others on the team.

Life After Sports

In this dynamic presentation, Joshua not only talk to student athletes about the importance of having a solidified career plan after sports, but he challenges them to develop a career plan after sports and equips and empowers them with solid information that will ultimately help them discover their right career choice after sports. Some of the nuggets of wisdom discussed revolve around discovering your gifts/talents, discovering your passion in life, discovering that career you would do for free, and ultimately discovering how you can use these qualities listed above to make an impact in the world.

The Attitude of A Champion

In this power-packed presentation, Joshua not only talks about the importance of possessing a positive attitude in sports and in the real world, but he offers practical and applicable ways that can help student athletes possess the attitude of a champion on and off the court. Each principle discussed in this session will be drawn from men and women that have been champions in sports and in the real world.

The Total Athlete

In this powerful presentation, Joshua challenges and inspires student athletes to become the TOTAL ATHLETE. The Total Athlete consists of student athletes becoming great leaders who can serve their communities and make an impact in the world, it consists of student athletes achieving high levels of success on and off the court, it consists of student athletes modeling great character, it consists of student athletes always aspiring to be better, and it consists of student athletes making responsible decisions in adverse situations.

Student Athlete Team Captains Training Session

In this powerful workshop session, Joshua provides a training session specifically for student athletes who serve as a captain or co-captain of their sports team. In this training session for student athletes who serve as a captain or co-captain of their sports team, Joshua helps these student leaders develop a vision, action plan, and effective strategy for their time and experience as captain of their sports team.
